

Packing for Camp

Space is limited in the cabins; therefore, we recommend you do not over pack and limit luggage to one piece. Please make sure all items are labeled with your camper's name. We have wagons to borrow, if needed, to help move belongings to your cabin.

A note on cell phones: We whole-heartedly believe in the benefits of unplugging at camp and ask that you respect this policy. Camp Stella Maris is a unique setting where kids are given the valuable resource of belonging to a community of their own. A community in which kids interact face-to-face, with positive role models who have time to listen, talk, relax, and reflect. CSM provides a safe environment that allows kids to learn what positive things to say and do when they make mistakes and face challenges. Suspending electronic interactions teaches kids not only how to read facial emotions and non-verbal cues, but how to make social adjustments to new and different people. We believe campers do their best when they are fully invested in the camp experience, and they can experience camp independently. We have often found that this separation can be harder for our parents than our campers. We encourage you to talk to your camper ahead of time about ways they can share their camp experience. Letters, journaling, and photographs are some great ways to connect while apart.

Packing Tips

- Have your camper pack with you. Not only will this build excitement (especially if there might be potential homesickness), but also accountability. You won't be there to help find a missing sock, so this is a great opportunity to work on responsibility and taking care of their belongings.
- Make sure your younger camper can open all shower bottles and know how much to use.
- For younger campers, we recommend packing a change of clothes for each day in separate zip lock bags.
- Bath and beach towels? Yes, maybe 2 of each. Beach towels tend to get sandy & dirty.
- Extra socks & underwear – you can never have enough dry socks (or underwear)!
- A couple of swimsuits – putting on a wet swimsuit is the worst!
- Extra sheets and/or blankets for accidents at night.
- Whatever you decide to pack in, remember you have to carry it to and from your vehicle. We recommend plastic totes (some have wheels)! Cabins floors may get dirty, wet, and sticky. There is no right or wrong, make it practical and easy for your camper to get in and out of. We have wagons to borrow if needed.
- Candy? Really? YES! Think: baseball cards – campers get to know each other by trading/sharing their candy & snacks. Please no melty stuff – cabins can get very toasty.
- If you want it back – label it!

Lost and Found

- CSM is not responsible for lost or damaged clothing or equipment.
- We encourage parent/guardian to check cabin clotheslines and CSM's lost & found areas prior to departure.
- Please make sure to pick up your camper's medications at the Health Center.
- We will hold lost & found items until October. Please call the main office if your camper is missing something.
